GERMANS TRAPPED; COUNTER FOILED

GOV. PHILIPP DENOUNCES MOB RULE

Executive Sends Letter to Mayor of Ashland on Affairs There

DEMANDS CHANGE

Does Ashland Want to be One Black Spot in State He Asks

Gov. Philipp this afternoon directed a blow at lawlessness. He sent a letter to the mayor of Ashland calling upon him to co-operate with the state government in the suppression of mob-law in that city. The letter is occasioned by the recent dismissal of actions started against alleged tar and feather operators and by the apparent disregard of law by some people in Ashland.

"You do not want your home to have the reputation of being the one spot in Wisconsin given over to lawlessness, where under appointed men, acts of violence and crime may go unpunished for it," declared Gov. Philipp.

The Governor points to the fact that what you permit in this state breaks down the morale of the army at the front.

The governor's letter follows:

July 25, 1918

Mayor, City of Ashland,
Ashland, Wisconsin.

My Dear Sir:

I feel that I should write you regarding the Anton tar and feather case and the dismissal of the accused by the court, and talk seriously with you concerning such practices and the apparent approval thereof by a considerable number of Ashland's citizens.

In the case in question the state was ready to prove by the testimony of the victim, also by the testimony of his wife, that the men who committed this act of violence, or at least, two of them, were not masked and that they could identify them; that these two men, with others who were masked, came to the home of Anton, broke down the door with force, made a forcible entry into the bathroom, took the man from the house by force and carried him to a lonely spot some distance from Ashland, removed his clothing, coated him with tar and covered him with feathers; that he was otherwise abused and was obliged to make his way home as best he could without clothing.

"Despite this proof the case against the men who could be identified was dismissed, and I am informed that the men who were guilty of this crime stated in the court room, within the hearing of witnesses, that if the judge did not dismiss this case against them that he would receive the same treatment.

If my information is correct, and I have every reason to believe that it is, a situation has grown up in Ashland that is the natural result of giving encouragement to mob rule, and I cannot refrain from saying to you that I believe that your police department, also the sheriff's office, have not been as diligent as they should have been in suppressing that type of disorder.

Three or four victim have been tarred and feathered in Ashland, all because they were accused of having made some disloyal remarks. In the case of Anato I have not yet been able to ascertain that disloyalty was seriously charged against him. I am not writing to you for the purpose of condoning anything that the men in question have done. If any or all of them have been guilty of disloyal utterances, they should be punished in accordance with their crime, but it should be done by the orderly process of the court, which is established by the people for that purpose, and not by a mob or by any secret organization that sets itself up as a judge of the people's conduct.

"As Americans we have pointed with pride to the fact that in our country every man is entitled to his day in court and that we have only one system of punishment that comes to a man as the result of a verdict obtained from twelve of his peers. Mob rule is a dangerous institution. It is usually unjust and permits no answer by the accured, even though the accusation may be false, and it establishes a practice that has no place in a civilized state. Men in other sections of the state have been found guilty of disloyal utterances and we read of convictions in the federal courts that result in imprisonment. That is as it should be if the accused is guilty.

As the head of the state government I would indeed be recreant in the discharge of my sworn duty if I did not fight the spread of mob rule with all the power that my office has to do it, and because I do so it is wicked to say that I have any other motive than the welfare of this state and our government in mind. The success of the war that we are engaged in will depend to a large extent upon peace and good order in our country, and he who supports lawlessness or unlawful methods in the punishment of those who in his judgment are disloyal to our country is violating the laws of our state and is not one whit better than the man whom he seeks to punish. In the one case the man is disloyal to the best interests of the country, and in the other case the man is disloyal to his own state by violating its laws, which is also reprehensible. The real patriot is the man who stands by his country in hours of need and protects its army in the rear by insisting upon law and order at home.

I ask you, as mayor of Ashland, to call upon the officers of the law to perform their duty and to prevent a re-occurrence of such violations of law and decency. I have faith in the good people of Ashland and I know that they wish law and order observed in their city, and that they do not wish their homes to have the reputation of being the one spot in Wisconsin given over to lawlessness where self appointed men may committe acts of violence and go unpunished for it.

Yours truly,
E. L. Philipp,
Governor.

MORE CORN!

When Dan Sweeney, flagman at the Northwestern crossing at South Madison, read in The Capital Times that State Treasurer Henry Johnson claimed he had the best cornfield in the state, he was skeptical.

Turning over in his mind the numerous fields he had seen this year, which indicated a bumper crop, he went out to search for one that would outshine the state official's.

He found it.

Right across the street from Mr. Johnson's field is that of John Carlson, a retired farmer. Mr. Sweeney took out his measuring rule and measured some of the tallest stalks. He found several eleven feet and six inches in height.

According to Mr. Sweeney, Mr. Johnson does not hold first place among corn growers, although he has an excellent record to shoot at.

U. S. SUBMARINE FIRED ON BY ALLIES

Armed Ship Mistakes Friend for Foe on Atlantic Coast

WASHINGTON—An American submarine, of the latest design, has been fired on by an allied armed ship off the New England coast. The submarine was only slightly damaged and a naval tug is towing it to port. No one aboard the submarine was injured.

Reports to the navy department today said the submarine, which was cruising submerged, suddenly appeared near the allied ship and the latter opened fire.

The scene of the attack was not far distant from the waters in which a German submarine recently appeared and where the American submersible came to the surface, the captain of the allied ship assumed that it was an emey vessel preparing to attack him.

Only one shot hit the submarine which quickly made known its identity when the allied ship began to fire.

ALLIES PUSH FORWARD ON 12 MILE LINE

Germans Forced to Give up More Territory on the Marne

FLANKS PUNISHED

Americans and French Rest in Advance of Starting Points

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON— On the western front of the Soissons-Rheims salient the allied forces have advanced to a depth of three miles on a 12-mile front during the past two days.

There were no new developments this morning in the battle area, according to advices from the field. The situation was considered quite satisfactory for the allies.

The reports show that the German high command has thus far engaged 64 divisions in the battle, representative of groups of the German aries from Flanders to Alsace. The 64 divisions are nearly a third of the available German army.

The conclusion is drawn that the enemy is being hard put to it for reserves.

In authoritative circles here the view is expressed that Germany has reached what might be called the downward curve in her man power. This applies to Prince Rupprecht's army as well as to the rest of the German army and it explains why Prince Rupprecht is not inclined to take the offensive.

This drop in German man power is not a sudden occurrence. It has been known to the allied military authorities for some time. The infantry units have been weakened by the withdrawal of storm troops and by heavy losses.

Germans Punished

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT (Wednesday, July 24, night)—With their lines of communication reduced by operations on their flanks and their rear north of the Marne being constantly punished, the Germans have been forced to give up more territory. The French and American troops rested tonight some distance in advance of the points where they started this morning.

The German retirement under pressure is believed to indicate that General von Boehm, the commander of the armies within the salient, has had enough punishment to convince him of the advisability of taking up new positions.

American Official

WASHINGTON—Further progress by the American forces in the attacks between the Ourcq and the Marne is reported by General Pershing in his communique for yesterday, received today at the war department.

Northwest of Jaulgonne, American forces penetrated the enemy's positions to a depth of from one to two miles.

The statement follows:

"Section A. Between the Ourcq and the Marne, our troops participated in local combats, which resulted in further forcing back the enemy lines. Northwestern of Jaulgonne, the enemy's positions were penetrated to a depth of from one to two miles.

"Section B. There is nothing to report in this section."

French Official

PARIS — On the north bank of the Marne the Germans launched a counter attack in the region of Dormans. The war office, in announcing this movement, reports that the enemy temporarily occupied a little wood to the north of Treloup and the village of Chassins. These positions, however, were recaptured by the French soon afterward.

French troops last night carried out a surprise raid along the line sout hof Montdidier in which prisoners were taken.

Violent artillery actions are reported from the region of Ourcq and to the west of Rheims.

The text of the statement follows:

"South of Montdidier a surprise attack allowed the French to capture thirty prisoners.

"On the north bank of the Marne, in the region of Dormans, the Germans during the night launched strong counter attacks. The enemy succeeded in occupying momentarily the little wood 1,500 metres north of Treloup and the village of Chassins, but returning to the aggressive our troops retook these two points a short time later.

"In the region of the Ourcq and west of Rheims, there were violent artillery actions."

British Official

LONDON — British troops last night pushed forward slightly south of Rossignol wood in the Hebuterne sector north of Albert. The official statement from Field Marshal Haig today adds that a few prisoners and six machine guns were captured.

"South of Villers Bretonneux the Germans last night pushed into one of the British posts. They were driven by a counter attack.

The statement reads:

"Early last night the enemy attacked and entered one of our posts south of Villers-Bretonneux, but was ejected by an immediate counter attack.

"Later in the night a hostile raiding party attacked another of our posts north of the Somme and was repulsed. The enemy left prisoners in our hands as a result of these encounters. None of our men is missing.

"During the night we advanced our line slightly south of Rossignol wood in the Hebuterne sector and captured a few prisoners and six machine guns.

AMERICAN'S SPEED AWES FOE PRISONERS

Captives Say Work of U. S. Troops is Big Surprise

(By the Associated Press)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT —An American in a mess outfit shot down a German aviator during the Franco-American offensive south of Soissons by hitting the enemy in the head with a rifle bullet.

The German swooped down and attacked the wagon train with a machine gun, flying low to make his aim certain. The panic stricken mules caused confusion and the drivers and soldiers had their hands full to control the animals. The young soldier leaped from a wagon as the enemy flier came near and shot him. The machine fell near by.

A German lieutenant and 18 men who were captured by the Americans were questioned concerning the remainder of the battalion. The officer replied:

"Those 18 are all that are alive." The lieutenant said the speed of the Americans was the biggest surprise of his army experience. He said the Americans even outclassed the Germans when the latter were attacking the Russians and added that he was glad to be a prisoner.

FRENCH ADVANCE NEAR FISMES; GERMANS CAUGHT IN POCKET, SAYS LONDON

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON—The Pall Mall Gazette says that rumors are current that British troops have made a great advance in the direction of Fismes, about midway between Rheims and Soissons.

It is also reported that French troops have advanced on another part of the Aisne-Marne salient and that the armies of the German crown prince have been placed in a position out of which extrication seems to be impossible.

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES ON THE MARNE FRONT (1:30 P. M.)—Franco-American troops this morning advanced their lines north of the river Marne more steadily. The Germans continued their retreating movement to the northward.

The French and Americans also made gains on other parts of the 55 miles of battle front. The Germans viciously resisted in a majority of cases.

FRENCH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE (Via Ottawa)—French troops are now within three miles of the town of Fere-en-Tardenois which is the meeting point of eight roads. It is the center of the German communications in this region. The town is being heavily shelled and bombed by entente allied squadrons.

The entente allied forces in the territory to the north of Chateau Thierry are paying less attention to running down machine gun nests and are advancing their whole line, small detachments being left to clean up the enemy machine crews.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE—The Germans desperately counter-attacked all around the semi-circle of the Marne salient today. They met the most powerful resistance from the French, the Americans and the British. There were a few fluctuations in the line but the allies held well, responding in the most vigorous manner to every attempt of the enemy to advance.

Fresh troops were thrown in by the allies to meet the enemy blow.

On both wings of the salient, the artillery duel was of the most violent character, as the Germans had concentrated most of their guns on their flanks.

TODAY'S SITUATION

(By the Associated Press)

Big developments are impending on the Aisne-Marne-Rheims battle front, according to indications today.

Although official advices are lacking, unofficial reports make it appear that not only are the allies rapidly continuing the process of ousting the Germans from their Marne salient, but that a movement may be in process of execution by means of which it is hoped to trap a goodly section of the German crown prince's army.

Driving in on the west, the French are now reported to have reached a point within three miles of the important road junction town of Fere-en-Tardenois, where eight roads over which the Germans move troops and supplies converge.

On the easterly side of the salient, according to unconfirmed reports, which have reached London, British troops have driven in a great distance toward Fismes, the real German base for the district south of the Aisne: This town, 11 miles from the last reported position of the British southweet of Rheims, lies about midway from the top of the pocket in which something, like half a million Germans are massed.

Easterly and westerly movements are tending to converge to close the pocket. Speed seems to be the watchword of the allies all along the line, as attested by orders on the American front to ignore machine gun nests and press on, leaving detachments to deal with the German gunners.

German rear guards have again hurled themselves at the pursuing allied forces on the north bank of the Marne. Before the momentum of their blow the allies were obliged to withdraw from the little wood to the north of the town of Treloup and were forced back out of the village of Chassins, a little further east.

The success of the Germans was, however, short lived, for they were immediately driven back by a renewed attack by the allies.

Northward along the line toward Soissons and to the northeast toward Rheims, there have been heavy bombardments, but no infantry fighting is reported.

As the days of heavy fighting continue on the battlefield north of the Marne, it becomes increasingly apparent that the German retirement is well under way. This withdrawal is apparently being conducted in an orderly, if not deliberate manner, being covered by such rear guard actions as that reported at Treloup and Chassins.

A study of the map of the region where the struggle is going on shows that along the line from Jaulgonne northwest to Oulchy-le-Chateau, just north of the Ourcq, or even farther, the allies have pressed ahead during the last two days. As nearly as the location of the contending forces can be determined at present, the Germans have been forced back or have retired over much of this line a distance of nearly three miles since Tuesday.

Steadily as allied pressure has forced the Germans back within the pockets formed by the battle lines, the German's defensive efforts have increased in ferocity due to the continuous throwing in of reserve divisions. The allied offensive, therefore, in one week not only has brought the fifth German offensive to a hasty halt, but has turned it into a disastrous repulse, and also forced the enemy to bring in reserved troops from other fronts. Military observers in Paris believe that the German command is preparing for a new blow against the allies in order to counter-balance the situation on the Rheims-Soissons front.

HOLWAY FINDS SPERRY IS NOT A SLACKER

Boy Who Went to Russia Put in Service by Pershing

Myron Sperry of Marinette is not a delinquent under the draft. This fact was discovered by Adjutant General Holway today after a search for the young man. When the first registration came his parents registered for him. He was in Russia when the questionnaire was sent out and of coures did not receive the document. The record reported him as "delinquent" but upon investigation Adjutant General Holway found that the boy has a remarkable army career. His father, P. H. Sperry, is Grand Commander Knights Templar of the State of Wisconsin.

"I wish to inform you," writes his father, "that when the call for registering of men was issued, my son was in England, I consulted the District Attorney here and he said I could register for him and get the card, I did this and when the questionnaire was sent out, I went to the board and they directed me to send it to his last address. He never received the paper which at this time was Moscow, where he had been sent by the Willys-Overland Co., he being one of their men, things were so bad in Russia toward the last of last summer that the Company cabled him to return to England. He got back there all right and while there the Army Officers there wanted the Overland people to let what service men they had drive their warning cars when the raiders appeared. He did this wearing an English uniform for that purpose, otherwise he could not have driven as fast as they had to.

"The Overland shipped a ship load of trucks, ambulances and other motor cars to France in the knock down, Pershing wired the London office of the Company asking them to send a service man who was capable of superintending the assembling of these motors, and my son was sent there and when finished and got back to England, Pershing wired the company asking of that young American that he enlist and when Mr. Libbey, the president showed Myron the telegram he said that was what he had been trying to do ever since the war broke out. He tried it in Russia, went to the American consul there and wanted to enlist in the U. S. service but he told him he was doing more for his country there than he would be in the trenches.

"He immediately enlisted and when he reported in France he was transferred to the First Division American E. F. in the Motor Transportation Service, where a letter will reach him."

GERMANS MUST LAUNCH COUNTER

Military Experts Declare Ludendorff Will Try to Relieve Pressure

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS — More reserves are being thrown into the battle by the Germans, according to the latest advices reaching Paris, but these were unable to prevent the allies from making appreciable gains, Wednesday. The important point of Oulchy-le-Chateau slowly but surely is being surrounded. If the Germans lose it, it will be impossible for them to hang on to Fere-en-Tardenois.

Military observers here are convinced that General Ludendorff shortly will launch a counter offensive. His objects will be, first, to clear the front between Soissons and Rheims; second, to lessen the demoralizing effect of a projected retreat to the Vesle and, third, to have Germany regain the initiative.

Consequently, it is to his interest to prolong the present battle as long as possible even at the expense of his treasured reserves so a to keep the French occupied and give him time to prepare another blow.

MYSTERY SHIP

(By the Associated Press)

BOSTON—The unidentified armed ship sighted off Nantucket, Sunday morning, by Captain William Price, of the schooner Elizabeth King, of Gloucester, was looked upon with suspicion today by naval officials, some of whom believed it might be a mother ship for German submarines operating off the New Engalnd coast. The mysterious ship was seen but two hours before a U-boat attacked the tug Perth Amboy and her tow, off Orleans.

The strange vessel, with guns fore and aft, was reported to be in the line of trans-Atlantic travel about twenty miles south-southeast of Nantucket lightship. The boat displayed neither flag nor name, and carried heavy wireless equipment. Officers of the first naval district today took steps to intercept the craft and determine her status.

Captain Price, upon reaching Gloucester, reported that the ship came within 100 feet of the Elizabeth King and trained its gun on the schooner but did not hail her. When Captain Price spoke the steamer, an officer replied in a foreign tongue.

RUPPRECHT AIDS CROWN PRINCE

Rushes Troops in Attempt to Save German Heir at Soissons

LONDON—Nine divisions of reserves from the army of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria and a division from the eastern end of the line have been rushed to the aid of the German crown prince between Soissons and Rheims, but, says Reuters' correspondent with the American troops in France, the Germans may well hesitate to push more troops into the already crowded salient, seeing the difficulty they have of feeding those already there.

German resistance on the southern sectors of the salient had been reduced to a shell, it is added, and the enemy doubtless is concentrating efforts on keeping open the northern outlet.

OUTLINE NEW STANDARDS FOR RURAL SCHOOLS

Health Authorities Send Out Code Governing Sanitary Conveniences

A demand of long standing for more sanitary and serviceable outbuildings for rural schools has been met by the publication of an illustrated bulletin on the subject by the state board of health, giving detailed plans and specifications for a standard outbuilding. These must be followed in the construction of new and the reconstruction of old, outbuildings where public sewerage is no available.

The publication stresses the hygienic importance of clean and wholesome outbuildings for pupils and teachers, citing the dangers of disease from improper disposal of human wastes. It also explains methods of protecting the school well from pollution and urges that such waters be analyzed by a state laboratory before school opens.

The plans for the standard type outbuildings were approved by the state department of engineering and endorsed by the state department of public instruction and the County Superintendents' association.

The power of the state board of health to enforce regulations of this kind is conferred by the statutes, and covers the subject of outhouses, toilets, plumbing, drainage, sewage and garbage disposal, water supply, etc.

Copies of the new code have been sent to county superintendents with instructions to supply all district school boards and have also been sent to rural parochial schools. Any district school board failing to receive a copy will be supplied upon application to their county superintendent.

By a recent ruling, also, before any dry or chemical closet may be installed in a school house, permission must be received from the state board of health, and the installation conform with certain requirements. Upon information blanks furnished by the state board of health, the school board must state the size and description of the school buildings and other conditions affecting the installation, also the source and type of water supply, character of the soil, lay of the land, and type of closet to be installed.

URGES SUGARLESS CANNING METHODS

Sturgeon Bay Manufacturer Explains Pasteurizing System

Frank I. Plick of Sturgeon Bay asked the federal food administration today to urge the conservation of the sugar resources of the state by eliminating the use of sugar in canning. Mr. Plick is engaged in bottling and the manufacture of ice cream.

"If the housewives of Wisconsin would use the system which we call pasteurizing, no sugar need be used in canning," declared Mr. Plick. "We have carried on extensive experiments and our results are conclusions. The plan we use is known as the cold-pack system. Take your berries, add a little water; put them in a fruit jar and screw on the cover tight; submerge the jar in a boiler of water but do not let water come to a boiling point. Temperature of the water should be between 140 and 180 degrees, the average of about 150. A wooden frame should be placed in the bottom of the boiler so that the fruit jar does not touch the bottom of the boiler. Keep the fruit in this water for one-half hour. Then take it out and allow it to cool by putting it in colder water. That is all that is necessary. In every case where fruit canned under this system is spoiled the jars were not air tight. Berries packed under this system will keep in perfect condition and when opened in the winter sugar can be added. Beans, peas and other vegetables can be put up in the same method. The flavors will be retained even better than under any other system."

1200 New York Doctors Fighting Poison Gas.

Do you know that you folks at home as well as the brave boys "over there" are menaced by "poison gas"—the insidious kind that steals away health and the joy of living, in the perpetually recurring disturbances resulting from a gassy, sour stomach.

1200 New York physicians regularly prescribe JOHN'S DIGESTIVE TABLETS as the most perfect form of relief known for these stomach disorders. The TABLETS are highly beneficial for gastric and intestinal indigestion, heamburn, acid or sour stomach, flatulence and gastric catarrh. They sure do vanish that poison gas which is the basis of most stomach ailments, as well as banish bad breath which usually heralds that gas-filled stomach.

Get the TABLETS at your drug store. They insure quick, lasting relief by taking three to six dissolved in a glass of water or chewed before swallowing. Have JOHN'S DIGESTIVE TABLETS handy in the dining room for chronic cases of gastric or intestinal indigestion—as one or two TABLETS should be taken before each meal

DAIRY GIVES PROSPERITY TO WISCONSIN

Arkansas Farmers Tell of Progress Made by Badger Cattlemen

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—"The farmers of Wisconsin are as prosperous and contented as any in the world and the dairy industry is responsible."

That was the conclusion which members of the Arkansas Profitable Farming Bureau came to after the recent tour of its members through Wisconsin's dairy districts. Headed by Gov. Charles H. Brough, a large delegation of Arkansas farmers and officials recently visited Wisconsin for the purpose of inquiring into its dairy industry and to acquaint themselves with the work of Wisconsin College of Agriculture and Agricultural Experiment station.

John F. Nicholson, agriculturist for the Little Rock Board of Commerce, is convinced that his state will profit very greatly by the visit to the dairy farms and plants of Wisconsin.

"Wisconsin farmers," he reports, "work hard and they put a great deal of intelligent thought into their work which is one of the main reasons for their success, but back of it all and the most important in Wisconsin's prosperity are the state's agricultual college and university. These have been the most potent factors in making Wisconsin the great industrial state that it is. Wisconsin stands as the first dairy state in the union. The dairy industry of Wisconsin has been responsible for its wealth."

Fashionland Hints

Calico is the real war-time fabric. It is both plain and figured and is used for entire dresses or combined effectively with batiste, organdy or pique.

Sashes and belts are being shown in shops that are a trifle ahead of the procession, which are lovely combinations of silk and embroidery, or ribbon and embroidery, or even a linen crash with embroidery. They are made in rather narrow strips and much longer than the number of inches that will reach around the waist. Then they are draped in many individual ways. The ribbon may be a strip of grosgrain, bright blue in color, and only of a width of about two inches; it may be button-holed with yellow wool to make it more effective. Another ribbon sash of this character was made of a narrow taffeta ribbon in a sulphur yellow. Polka dots were embroidered at regular intervals (about three inches of space being left between them), in purple silk floss. And so used as belts, just once around the waistline, and are worn with summer frocks consisting of a white skirt of some sort with a thin organdy or batiste blouse.

Rice straw trimmed with ribbon or fantastic plumage in all white is popular for the midsummer hat of the woman of mature years.

Elaborate designs in calico appear in waistcoats joined with serge or pique suits.

Hats of calico are also a summer fancy.

MILK DEALERS IN PRICE CONFLICT

WINONA, Minn.— A milk war started by small distributors early this week has forced the price of bottled milk downward until today that commodity is selling at six cents a quart. One large distributor asserted that he would be unable to meet the low price, although he had made a reduction of two cents from the old price of nine cents. This dealer states that producers demand 22 cents a gallon, an average of 5½ cents a quart, and to sell at six cents would mean a heavy loss.

Meanwhile, the price cutting has spread to other dealers and it is believed the price will finally be established at seven cents to consumers.

Miss Martha Harris has charge of Friday's program, and all visitors will receive a cordial welcome. The meeting starts at 8.

The cooking school which was being held at the Lowell school held its last session Wednesday morning. The school has been successful, the attendance being so high that the girls were divided into two classes, one coming at 8 o'clock and leaving at 10, and the second coming at 10 and leaving at 12 o'clock.

During the season the girls made barley muffins, cream cabbage, baked stuffed potatoes, rice, oatmeal, chocolate pudding, cream carrots. The girls assembled on Wednesday and Thursday.

The manual training school also was successful. The boys will finish their work Saturday, although their regular days are Monday and Wednesday, from 8 to 10 o'clock. The boys made anything they fancied, paying for their wood when the article was finished.

G. Mael and E. Johnston motored to Rio Tuesday evening.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Milbrook at their home on Willard Avenue, Wednesday morning.

An automobile run by Mr. Fix ran into the curbing at Rusk and Atwood avenue Wednesday morning. No injury nor damage was sustained.

MEAT CUTTERS SHOW STRENGTH

Coloperative Plant is 100 Per Cent Union Organized

Eight new members were initiated at Wednesday night's meeting of the Meat Cutters' and Packing House Workers' union. Reports showed that the Farmers' Co-Operative Packing plant is 100 per cent organized. J. E. Smith, American Federation of Labor organizer, addressed the members. Smith has met with success in organizing the workers in packing houses throughout the country.

A campaign was opened to purchase only home-killed meat. A resolution was passed by about 50 members present, asking President Wilson to stay the sentence of Thomas J. Mooney, convicted to die for alleged bomb-throwing during the big preparedness parade in San Francisco, until a new trial can be held.

A committee of five was chosen to make arrangements for Labor day floats to go in the parade. Regular meeting will be held every second and fourth Thursday, instead of Wednesday, hereafter.

MILLS CEASE GRINDING BARLEY

Declare Move is Made Because of Government Regulations

(By the Associated Press)

MINNEAPOLIS — Local mills virtually ceased grinding barley flour today because of government regulations that the product shall not contain more than 1½ per cent of fat, it was said. Millers contend that 2½ per cent of fat is a fair proportion and that they are expecting a modification of the ruling.

Cash trading in wheat will be resumed at the Chamber of Commerce next Monday, according to an announcement by Frank L. Carey, government representative here. The food administration grain corporation, however, will continue to purchase wheat at the basic price of $2.21½.

"Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us, to the end, dare to do our duty as we understand it"

THE WISCONSIN PRESS,—CHILD DESERTER

NO crime, in the estimation of modern society, is more despicable than child desertion.

Men guilty of renouncing their own flesh and blood are denounced as cowards. They are held up to the contempt and ridicule of their fellow men.

* * *

Beginning tomorrow, The Capital Times will begin the publication of a series of articles showing how the newspapers of Wisconsin in a cowardly manner, renounced a child of their own making. We will show how the press brought into this state a child which it nurtured and supported and then suddenly, with the speed of rats deserting a sinking ship, abandoned the child.

* * *

On several occasions The Capital Times has stated that no more cowardly and ungrateful treatment has ever been accorded public men than has been accorded Wisconsin members of congress, the governor of this state and members of the legislature in the last year for their stand on the war.

In the forthcoming articles we will show that these men are now being condemned for responding to a public sentiment in this state BUILT IN LARGE PART BY THE NEWSPAPERS OF THE STATE THAT ARE NOW SPENDING MOST OF THEIR TIME CONDEMNING THESE MEN.

We will show that the same newspapers were opposing some of the principles which they now so eagerly defend. We will show that, acting on the theory that a public man's highest duty is to his constituents, that newspapers and men, who are now condemning these public men, either requested these public men to take the stand they did or remain strangely silent at the time.

* * *

War was declared April 6, 1917.

Since that time the press of Wisconsin has been busy heaping villification upon men who opposed war and conscription or who favored an embargo.

The thing that we are going to get at, however, is that PRIOR to April 6, 1917 the newspapers of this state were conducting a campaign that, in large part, built up this sentiment against the war and conscription and to which our public men responded.

* * *

Public men are in the halls of legislation first of all to represent their constituents. They have no more sacred duty than this. If the strange doctrine of "standing back of the president" has supplanted this most fundamental of all doctrines then WHY A CONGRESS? Why doesn't congress delegate its authority to the president and go home? If the only prerogative of a loyal congressman is to vote Aye why call the roll?

No one is so unsophisticated as to believe that the president does not want a democratic congress this fall. Under the doctrine that condemned our representatives at the time war was declared for failure "to stand back of the president" how can these newspapers and individuals now go out and argue for a republican congress? Isn't every man who works for a republican congress this fall guilty of the same crime they so loudly decried in Wisconsin members of Congress?

* * *

The Capital Times knows that it is "patriotic" nowadays to condemn these men. We know that the cowards in editorial sanctums in this state are now busy denouncing their own child.

The Capital Times believes that, free of hysteria, the average person is for fair play. We believe that the average person is going to reflect back over the months prior to the declaration of war.

How many of the people in the city of Madison, for instance, indicated to their congressmen that they wanted war or wanted conscription? How many indicated that they were opposed to these things? There are telegrams and letters reposing in Washington today that would make many a shouting "loyalist" in Wisconsin look sick today. To reveal a little of this hypocrisy some of these telegrams and letters ought to be made public.

* * *

There is only one indictment that can be made against Wisconsin public men that would be honest.

If it can be shown that AFTER war was declared or AFTER conscription was passed that any public man countenanced or suggested a violation of these laws then an indictment can be set up against these men. If it can be shown that any public man has done anything that has injured the welfare of our boys in uniform that man ought to be retired to public life.

But the contrary is true. These men, after war was declared have supported the war in every way. They have done what the Wisconsin newspapers have done. They have done what a majority of the citizens of Wisconsin have done.

And it is the height of cowardice now to turn on these men. We are condemning our servants for having obeyed us.

* * *

We charge the newspapers of Wisconsin with child abandonment. We shall begin to present our evidence tomorrow.

Speech Delivered By J. N. Tittemore At West Bend, July 18, 1918

After four years of service, do the people really know what kind of a man Governor Philipp is? Can they tell with any degree of certainty how he stands on any important question? Let us take the important question of Prohibition—how did he stand on that. A little history on that issue pertaining to matters that transpired during the 1917 session of the legislature is interesting. During that session the Governor played both ends against the middle. He was on both sides of the fence, evidently he wanted to satisfy the liquor interests and also mollify the prohibitionists. Let us see wha he did. When the question o submitting the liquor questio to a referendum vote came up for passage, the administration members of the legislature, voted in favor of the bill. The referendum passed both houses, but was vetoed by the Governor. This effectively denied the people of the state the right to vote on this subject. This did not complete the duplicity of Governor Philipp. When he vetoed the referendum bill, he stated that if it were somewhat modified, he would sign it. Later on and during the same session of the legislature, the Prohibition forces from Milwaukee and other parts of the state, requested the Governor to enforce the so-called "Sunday Closing Law." Here Philipp saw an opportunity to favor the Liquor Interests, and the Prohibition forces met with complete failure before the Governor. All through this liquor question Governor Philipp played fast and loose and blew hot and cold—the fact is he played upon a political chess board with the people of the state as a pawn. Now, I am informed that when the Anti-Saloon people went to Governor Philipp to urge him to close the saloons on Sunday, he informed them that he was as much of a Prohibitionist as they were, and that he would like to see the liquor traffic wiped out immediately, but that to do it, might react against the temperance question. How can anyone in view of this record, pin their faith in Governor Philipp? One day he is an ideal champion of the cause of Prohibition and the next day the patron saint of the liquor interests.

Now let us take another phase or question that is uppermost in the minds of the people and note the Punch and Judy position of Governor Philipp. We again find him pulling the strings both ways, one day he caters to the so-called pro-German element, while the next day he is the spokesman of superlative loyalty. One day we find him clothed in the mantle of the pacifist—the next day we find him mounted high on a militant charger—sword in hand—and bedecked with the helmet of war. One day he is immersing the people in a peace bath and the next day his clarion voice is calling legions to give battle to the common foe. We find Governor Philipp both by letter as well as word, advocating an embargo on arms. We find him supporting Senator La Follette's embargo plan. We find him dispatching telegrams to Senator La Follette, urging him to vote against the War Resolution. We find him again telegraphing to La Follette, urging him to vote against the selective draft law, but before long, when the popular voice touches his ear, he quickly pulls the strings and becomes the militant and outspoken foe of La Follette and all of these La Follette measures. We find him blocking a pacifist movement; we find him militantly helping to drive the Peace Council Meetings out of Wisconsin. We hear his clarion voice condemning La Follette for doing the very things he urged La Follette to do.

What sort of stuff is this, our Governor is putting over upon an unsuspecting people. Taking the chief characteristics of the Governor, one of which is vacillation, in its most virulent form, and the facts that for years and years, he was the agent or lobbyist of the great corporations of Wisconsin, and further taking his record as Governor into consideration it would seem as though the people of the state ought not to even think about extending him terms of office. Not a single thing he stood for, has been completely done, while he has been in office taxes have been increased. The number of commissions were not reduced, but rather were increased. Every commission has been put under the control of personal appointees, favorable to corporate influence and power. He ran upon the platform of "Look at your tax receipt" during his first campaign, and when he absolutely failed to give any relief to the people he ran the second time on a platform of "Give me another chance." Now he is running on a platform of "Win the War." Ye Gods and little fishes, from the record of Philipp, what a travesty it would be to have the Governor's colossal form statued in the Hall of Fame with Randall and Harvey and Jerry Rusk. We can imagine a side wink of these old patriots among each other as Emmanuel is taking his place in the Great Hall of Fame. I would suggest that if he is to be the War Governor, that we erect a statue, Janus-like and put his pacifist policy on one side and his militant record on the other.

The question of taxes should and must engage the attention of men who are candidates for office in the State Government. During Governor Philipp's term of office he had a chance to reduce taxes and reform the state budget. This he did not do. If I shall be elected as Governor of the State, I shall ask for a budget system that will enable the people to know as soon as the legislatures meets, practically the amount of money that will be required for the ensuing biennial period. Each department should be required to submit their necessities in time to let the people examine into the budget before it is finally submitted for passage. There can be no danger in opening up the books and records to let the light in. The people are entitled to know and they should be given the opportunity to know. This I shall insist upon. The budget so rendered and published, will be in detail, so that it may be readily comprehended by any taxpayer of the state. In view of the tremendous tax exactions because of the war, appropriations must be cut to the bone and I promise that there will be radical reforms in the taxes of Wisconsin. Every unnecessary expenditure and every unnecessary office will be lopped off, and there will be a perfectly open and candid policy, carried out under the very eyes of the people themselves. The people expected much from Governor Philipp when he took office—he accomplished absolutely nothing. It is time someone else was given an opportunity to do the things he utterly failed to accomplish.

DINNER STORIES

Tobias Knowal peeped through the window of his office, then tiptoeing to his desk put a flannel bandage around his neck, put his arm in a sling, ran his hands through his hair and limped to the door.

"Mr. Knowal?" inquired the caller.

"Yes," groaned Knowal. "What can I do for you?"

"You appear to be far from well," said the caller.

"Appear to be?" exclaimed Knowal. "Do you think I'm doing this for fun? But what can I do for you?"

"Oh—er—I won't trouble you now," said the caller hurriedly. "Any time will do." And he departed.

"It's some trouble," murmured Knowal, pulling off his bandages. "But it's really the quickest way to get rid of these life insurance agents. That one won't trouble me again, anyhow!"

A witty Irishman was once invited to a large dinner party in Londonderry in the hope that he would amuse and divert his host's guests. But from the beginning to the end of the dinner he preserved a solemn and serious face, and did nothing but eat and keep his eyes on his plate.

The host thought this very strange "Why old fellow," he remarked, "I don't believe the biggest fool in Ireland could make you laugh tonight."

"Try," was the wit's cutting rejoinder.

"What's become of Bliggins?"

"He's laid up, a victim of the war."

"I didn't even know he had enlisted."

"He hasn't. He sprained his larynx telling how things ought to be done.

ON THE SQUARE--AND OFF

By the Observer

"Ho hum, my last meal at home!" (and his cafeteria check read 67 cents.)

"How's that?" queried the stranger at whose table he had stopped.

"I am one of the 400 who leave for Camp Grant. I am from out of town and when I reached here yesterday the quartermaster's department gave me an order on any place I wanted to go for three meals none of them to exceed 60 cents and a room for the night. I am having a hard time to eat my money's worth. Someone is going to lose on that bargain I guess.

"My breakfast was 47 cents this morning and I got everything I could see. This noon it only came to 67 cents. I had three desserts last night, and I still have money left when you add it all together. Thought I had better eat heavily here as I may have to live on beans when I get down there and I don't like them very much."

The the stranger with the appetite disclosed his identity. He was Fabian Monfils, who has made his home in Madison for about two years, until last June when he went to Milwaukee. He had registered with the local board last year and the telegram notifying him to report for entrainment for camp reached him up in northern Minnesota just the day before he was leaving for a Canadian trip.

Mr. Monfils has been employed as salesman for the Jewett and Sherman company, Milwaukee, and made his headquarters here until the last month or so, when he was transferred to northern Minnesota.

Miss Dorothy Brenner has made the wonderful discovery that the Apollophones, which are advertised in music stores on the square to "Reproduce" something or other, actually do so. Dorothy saw a merry troop of mice playing in the window of one of the stores, the other day. Some reproduction, we'll say.

* * *

It all happened in the office of George Nelson, city auditor. Somebody suggested that the circus was close at hand and that the "comps" would soon be handed out. Miss Dorothy Nelson, George's niece from Stoughton, started working in the office last May. This is the important fact to remember to get the full force of the joke. "We're all set now; here goes.

"How do they dish out those comps?" Fred Cummings asked George.

"Oh," George replied, "they're handed out on the basis of service. If you've been working for the city a year, you have one coming; for two years, you have two coming and so on."

"Well," Dorothy suggested, "what would they do if you hadn't worked for a whole year?"

"On the basis of your service, Dorothy" (here George winked hard at Ernie Bunn and Fred), I should say that you had a ticket to the side-show coming."

Who wants Dorothy's ticket? Don't all speak at once.

WOMEN REPLACE

SEATTLE, Wash.—While women kinds of commercial as a result of the war, their younger sisters in the meantime are branching out in the field of recreative sport. Since so among the men have joined the colors the athletic activities of the younger women have been receiving more and more consideration on the sport pages.

Tug of war is one of the latest phases of competitive activity which the girls here have taken to with enthusiasm. Girls working in the various department stores inaugurated the scheme by getting up a tournament. Since this move was made girls employed in business offices and other mercantile establishment have taken up the sport. Among the unions which have organized teams of girls are the Waitress Union, the Telegraph Operators' Union and the Candy and Cracker maker union.

That the women of the navy should take to growing perhaps is to be expected. Crews haveboen organized among the yeomanettes, regular regattas heve been held in which the women crews in various organizations have competed against one another.

WHEN ALMA GLUCK SINGS.

(Trench and Camp, the soldiers' periodical issued at Camp Grant, records the reaction upon a private in the base hospital of Alma Gluck's singing. The poet-private is Allan Ross McDougall.)

You sing,
And oh! a thousand thoughts crowd to my brain
Clamoring to have their say;
Clamoring like many birds at break of day,
Rushing like little winds in early spring
Driving the winter dark away;
Bursting upon me like the tiny buds on trees;
Soaring like many birds upon the wing
Up through the morning air.

You sing,
And in my lonely heart
The tears well up and overflow
Like sullen winter rain
That floods the one-time lovely earth
And all the pain
And emptiness of life that once were mine, the smart
And bitter scourges of love rust down,
All, all
Come back to me again.

You sing,
And olden joys
That I had long forgot
Come running back like crowds of merry boys
Let out from school,
Filling the air with happy noise.
I hear again my mother's evening croon
Falling about me like the cool,
Clear water in a shadowy grot,
And all the simple things
That gave naive delight to me
When I was young.

You sing,
And if my dreams
Were made of sterner stuff
Than scraps of lovely song
Thrown up into the air, long,
Long ago by some light hearted soul
For me to catch and treasure in my heart;
And fragrance of the flowers deep in the grass;
The hum of fireflies' wings;
The rainbow's gleams;
The lightness of the beams
That dance upon the waters;
The eager dart
Of dragon flies over the rippling brooks
That pass
Through lush and quiet meadows;
I'd weave them in a carpet for your feet,
But—
I have only this,
My simple halting song to greet
You lady, when you come
To sing.

FORTY-SECOND DIVISION BOYS IN FRONT LINE TRENCHES

American troops, Forty-second division, ready for Germans with rifle bullets and fixed bayonets.

American boys in the trenches are meeting the German attack with rifle fire and bayonets fixed to repel Hun dashes across No Man's Land. The Germans launched their new attack against the American positions west of Chateau Thierry, especially near Vaux. The attack was commenced after a most violent bombardment with high explosives and gas shells. When the enemy infantry appeared the Americans swarmed out and met the enemy with rifle fire.

BLIED TAKES MADISONIAN

Clarence Sommers, Publisher Goes to Camp Grant With Honor Men

Clarence M. Sommers, for some time prior to the death of his father, editor and publisher of The Weekly Madisonian, was one of the selective service contingent of Madison who left Wednesday for Camp Grant.

He is the elder son of Mrs. Frances Sommers, 893 Atwood avenue, the widow of the late Leopold Sommers, who, in company with [illegible] Reynolds, started the Madisonian 21 years ago last month, under the firm name of Sommers & Reynolds. Leopold Sommers later became sole proprietor. He died February 5, 1917. The family is one of the oldest in Madison, the grandfather, Ernest Sommers, having come to America from Saxony in 1848 and to Madison in 1850 with Governor Farwell, working for him and among other pioneer activities setting out trees in the capitol park.

The Madisonian's good will and subscription list, etc., have been purchased by the Blied Printing company, which continues the newspaper. It remains democratic. At the same time, the Blied company, which has published two weeklies in German for years, suspends one of them.

Without awaiting action by the postoffice department, regarding a permit, the Wisconsin Staats-Zeitung, founded 1854, suspended last Tuesday," said F. C. Blied. "Many intellectual men were connected with it, such as G. Schmidt, H. Kleinpell and Wm. F. Wolfe. In recent years it was a champion of democratic principles, and its suppression is deplored by leaders of the party. For Dane and neighboring counties, the Botschafter is the only paper in German left. This is owned by our company, from whose office, employing eight to ten, six men volunteered for the army and one was drafted. This is a record to which we point with pride. There is no disloyalty in such a printing office, even if they speak and print several languages."

Mr. Blied's parents were married in Madison. He has two sons in service in the army, one of them a lieutenant who has been in France since January, and several of Mr. Blied's nephews are in service in Italy and France.

SPANGLE, CIRCUS CAT, IS NATURALLY BORN LUCKY

Spangle, the Kitten Mascot of Ringlings' Circus and One of the Ballet Girls

Some cats are just naturally born lucky and some have such a hard time of it that it takes all their reputed nine lives to keep body and soul together. Spangle, mascot of the 300 ballet girls who dance in the spectacle "In Days of Old" with the Ringling Brothers' Circus, is not of the latter calss. On the contrary he probably has more attention, fun and adventure than any other cat in America.

Nearly every neighborhood has its "tramp" cat but the amount of touring done by one of these vagrants is an amateurish trifle compared with the record held by the much traveled Spangle. This pampered circus pet is now in his fourth season with the Ringling Brothers' aggregation. To date he has visited all but two states in the union and traveled approximately 150,000 miles. Did he choose, he could give many valuable pointers on the difference between stalking a Maine mouse and one of the California variety.

Spangle is the favorite of every one connected with the circus. The Ching Hing Lee Company of acrobats will tell you Spangle understands Chinese. The Tamakis speak to him in Japanese. The Johannes troupe of giant wrestlers from Iceland threaten to carry the mascot home with them at the end of the circus season. May Wirth, the famous rider, has taught Spangle to jump to her shoulder. Lily Leitzel has, in practice hours, carried him to the dizziest heights of the main tent; while Hilary Long, the "up side down man," frequently teases the ballet girls by threatening to some day take their pet with him when he leaps the gap on his head. In short, Spangle has something like 1850 friends and champions for such is the approximate number of persons who are traveling with the circus. And he and they are to be here next Tuesday. There will be more than a thousand animals of the menagerie to claim attention at that time and to see Spangle ask the way to the dining tent. It's one of Spangle's favorite haunts.

SOCIETY OF EQUITY TO HOLD PICNIC

Sheboygan County Local to Celebrate at Plymouth Saturday

BY JAMES A. MURPHY

SHEBOYGAN—The one big event of the year in Sheboygan county, the annual picnic of the county local of the American Society of Equity, will be held on Saturday, July 27, at the fair grounds in the city of Plymouth.

George Comings, Eau Claire, one of the best informed men on farm conditions and farmers' needs, will address the meeting in the forenoon. In the afternoon J. N. Tittemore, Omro, republican candidate for governor, will deliver a patriotic address. The Plymouth Review, in speaking of Mr. Tittemore, says:

"He is as well informed on transportation problems as any other man in the northwest, and for years he has been fighting the battles of the farmer and the business man."

One feature of this year's picnic that has been overlooked in the past is the extending of a personal invitation to the members of Sheboygan county labor unions.

AT THE THEATRES

GRAND.

If there is uncertainty in the mind of any American as to where all the money goes that is being poured into the coffers of the United States Treasury he has only to see the U. S. Official war film, "Pershing's Crusaders," at the Grand Theatre. This film presented by the Committee on Public information through the Division of Films, George Creel, Chairman, with the idea of giving Americans the truth about the war, shows many interesting details of what America is doing and when these details are grasped it is not hard to estimate the enormous expense the Government is under in doing its part in the war.

Scenes in munitions and industrial plants, with their thousands of workers engaged on war contracts; the shipbuilding plants, with the finished ships gliding into the water; the aviation plants and field, with more aeroplanes finished and in action than any American ever imagined; the gun manufacturing plants and those making shells for the large and small guns, are all striking illustrations of where enormous sums of money are being expended daily.

The thousands of soldiers shown in the cantonments and as many more in the fields of France as well as the vast accumulations of army stores other causes of tremendouous expense In fact any American seeing these films will easily recognize the need of more money than he ever dreamed of, and will feel pride and satisfaction in the knowledge that he has done and is doing his share in providing the funds with which the Government will carry out the greatest work it has ever undertaken.

GIVE CALCULATING MACHINE TESTS

Civil service examinations for calculating machine operators were held in the federal building by Harry E. Kiel, federal official in charge of the Madison civil service office, Wednesday morning.

Miss Edna M. Neil, instructor in the Burrows business school in the Washington building was among the number that took the examination. Her object is to become acquainted with what the requirements are so that she will be able to train her students to better advantage. Miss Neil is instructor in a six weeks' course which is given at the school for calculating machine operators. Beginning salaries at Washington range from $900 to $1200 with every chance for increases.

A series of four examinations for this work will be given by Mr. Kiel during August. All particulars can be obtained from Mr. Kiel at the federal building.

At noon the 166 select men who leave for camp that afternoon will be given a dinner by the Red Cross women in the courthouse square. Three bands will play and parade from 12 to 3 o'clock when the march to the train will take place. Joan M. Kluwin of Oshkosh has been secured as speaker.

Retail advertising is going to play a bigger part in selling men's merchandise than ever before, and the merchants who are going to strike the right keynotes are the merchants who will find themselves on the right side of the ledger. Campaigns should be laid out now—general campaigns that will convey to the man with a buying capacity the thought that old clothes and soiled and worn-out linens are the handmaids of failure; that appearances should be kept up regardless of general conditions.—Dry Goods Economist, July 20, 1918.

SECRETARY BAKER DELAYS DECISION ON PETITION OF BASEBALL COMMISSION

Extension of Effective Time of Work or Fight Ruling as to Ball Players is Question

WASHINGTON, D. C.— Secretary Baker late Wednesday postponed until today his decision on extending the effective time of the work or fight regulations as they apply to professional baseball players. Provost Marshal General Crowder was ready to lay his recommendations before the secretary after receiving a brief from the national baseball commission, but the secretary was unable because of the press of more important matters to take up the matter.

Baker said he would consider the brief and Gen. Crowder's recommendations and expected to announce his decision in the morning.

The brief drawn by the national baseball commission and presented on Wednesday to Provost Marshal General Crowder, asks extension of the effective time of the work or fight regulations as they apply to professional baseball players until the end of the present season or until the clubs can have time to prepare for a suspension of operations.

Gen. Crowder took the brief under advisement and was to make recommendations to Secretary Baker.

Gen. Crowder was told by the baseball representatives that if the regulations were enforced now less than sixty players would remain in the two major leagues and that there would be no time in which to recruit new players to enable the clubs to complete the present playing schedules.

The draft of the brief handed to Gen. Crowder was completed on Wednesday at a conference of baseball officials. They included President Tener, National league, President Johnson, American league, August Herrmann, of Cincinnati, chairman, and John E. Bruce, of the national commission, Secretary Heydler, National league, and three club presidents; William F. Baker, Philadelphia; Charles Weeghman, Chicago; Barney Dreyfuss, Pittsburgh; Percy D. Haughton, Boston; Harry Frazee, Boston, and Benjamin Minor, Washington.

Harper, W. H. Collins, E. B. Steensland, W. A. Tracey, K. T. Severance, D. E. Cantwell, Sidney Ainsworth, R. G. Siebecker and H. M. Warner.

CLASS FULTON AMONG DRAFT DELINQUENTS

HARRISON, N. J.—Fred Fulton, the Minnesota claimant of the heavyweight pugilistic title, has been classed as a delinquent in the draft and may be taken into custody here on advice of Chairman Henry S. Wise of local draft board No. 135 of New York city, it was learned Wednesday night. Fulton is scheduled to meet Jack Dempsey in an eight round bout here Saturday night. According to a letter received on Wednesday from Chairman Wise, Fulton failed to appear before his local board for physical examination and by virtue of this failure he is classed a delinquent. The Harrison board met on Wednesday to consider the case and decided to refer it to the attorney general. Mr. Wise said Fulton had been placed in division A, c lass 1, on the ground that he is engaged in a non-essential occupation.

POSTPONE KIWANIS GAME WITH ROTARY

More Time Needed for Braves to Sharpen Their Weapons for the Fight

Inability to conclude all necessary arrangements has caused the postponement of the baseball contest which had been practically agreed upon between "Rube" Neckerman and "Mickey" Cleary, the big chiefs of the Ro-ta-ry and the Kiwa-ni to take place Thursday night.

The postponement will give time for practice and the selection of teams, according to John-St.-John, the war-like brave of the Ro-ta-ry tribe. The braves of the latter tribe will hold a pow wow to discuss the coming war. It is planned to provide a band for the occasion, and have some prominent speakers. The game will probably be set for next Thursday to be played on the banks of Mo-no-na, on the street of that same name.

Star Nags Of Turf Almost Priceless; $200,000 For Omar

Time was when lovers of horseflesh thought $50,000 a top price for thoroughbred nags, but the star runners of today are valued at twice the figure they would have brought in the open market a few years ago.

Several owners of crack thoroughbreds, notably Omar Khayyam, Cudgel, and runners approaching their class, have placed prohibitive prices on them. Very recently Edward B. McLean of Washington offered Wilfred Viau $75,000 for Omar Khayyam, and the offer was disposed of with a smile from Viau. Later the Canadian racing magnate set a flat price of $200,000 on the namesake of the great poet. Anybody can have him for that price. Think of it!

Omar Priced High

Viau's prohibitive price indicated that he did not want to sell the great runner, and this after he had been beaten by Cudgel. As values in horseflesh go, Omar would be bringing a big price if he should be sold for $100,000, but that is practically the limit for any horse that ever champed a bit.

Hourless, recently retired to the stud would not have been sold for $150,000, according to Sam Hildreth. Only last year Hourless was Omar's great rival, and he was considered by many critics the better horse of the two.

Ross Likes Cudget

Cudget, the latest sensation of the eastern tracks, could not be weaned away from Commander Ross for a jitney less than $125,000, if he could be bought for that price, and he cost Ross an even $30,000. Omar Khayyam was knocked down to Wilfred Viau last season for $26,500. Yet within one short year the valuation placed on these nags has been tripled.

Big Salaries In Baseball To Go; Copper League Busy

There will be a house cleaning in baseball next spring, if the game comes back then, but it may not be the kind of house cleaning that Ban Johnson prophesied. The present national commission may or may not be put in power again. There may be or may not be a new head to that commission; there may be a new leader of the National league, and, dreadful thought, there may even be a new leader of the American league. All these things are possible, but what is most probable of all is a reorganization and a regrading of salaries.

The fat wartime contracts will be visible no more. Valiant athletes who drew from $5,000 to $8,000 while their clubs lost heavy money will be offered from $2,500 $4,000. If there is any preference in awarding the big money, it will be shown to men returning from the war, as it is felt that they could not help their departure, and gave up large incomes cheerfully to serve the nation.

Superfluous agents, extra financial managers, etc., will be lost to view. Baseball will simply start in again and will try to rebuild its shattered fortunes along sane and economic lines. This comes unofficially, but none the less correctly, through the office of the national commission.

Agents of the Arizona Copper league, which comprises the six Arizona cities of Bisbee, Prescott, Phoenix, Oakland, Jerome and Tombstone, are on their way east to grab big league players. Forty Pacific coast men have gone in with these six clubs, but the promoters want major leaguers, too. Their offer is blunt and direct:

Six dollars a day straight wages to copper miners, and the ball players will have to earn the money, working eight honest hours a day; $8 extra to ball players with games Saturday and Sunday.

The games are mostly by automobile, and the population has gone wild over the game.

THREE WORLD'S RECORDS FALL

In Harness Meet at Toledo; "Pop" Geers Strikes Some Hard Luck

TOLEDO, O.—Three world's harness records were broken on the Fort Miami track Wednesday afternoon, the second day of the grand circuit meeting. The first new mark was made when Bertha McGuire in the Fort Miami stake event for 2:08 trotters, trotted a mile in $2:04¼, making a new world's record for 4 year old fillies, the former record being 2:04¾.

The race went six heats before a decision was reached, Esperanza and Blanche Carter fighting it out after the rest of the horses had been sent to the barn. It was the fastest six heat race on record and the fastest sixth heat.

Wilkes Brewer, driven by Pop Geers, was ruled out after the third heat in the Fort Miami. It was the only race of the day Driver Murphy was unable to win. Riding behind Ante Guy in the 2:11 trot he won after losing to the first heat to Heir Reapr, with Geers in the sulky. Murphy also drove The Problem, a winner in the 2:11 pace against a field of seven. The Poughkeepsie reinsman also put in a bid for the Fort Miami $5,000 stake event, but finished ninth in the second heat after being in third place in the first and withdraw from the field.

Geers was picked to win the big event with Wilkes Brewer, but the veteran driver was unable to make the mare behave. Lucky Clover the mare behave. Lucky Clover and the second heat of the 2:11 trot. Neither was hurt, but Lucky Clover finished the mile on the trot and went around again running.

SPORT EVENTS OF THE DAY

SERGT. FRAZIER TALKS TO FIREMAN

Tells Them Soldiers Must be Backed to Limit

Sergeant Frazier, member of the famous Black Watch Battalion of the Canadian army, entertained the members of No. 2 fire station and a number of business men Thursday noon, with an account of his experiences in the trenches. He told them o fthe manner in which the Germans fight and the spirit with which the Canadians and other allied troops go after their enemies. He assured them that not only would Germany be driven out of France and Belgium, but if necessary out of Germany.

He made an appeal to the men at home to give everything possible to the boys fighting for democracy. He said that in his own experiences, the feeling of security which results from knowing that those back of the army are back of it to the last dollar and to the last effort, gives the fighting man courage to uphold his part of the great conflict.

GERMANS ASKED TO MAKE DOUBLE EFFORTS TO WIN

Troops Attempt Terrific Task to Crush French Before Americans Arrive

(By the Associated Press)

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE—Greater efforts than ever before have been exacted this year by German army chiefs from the troops under their command. All divisions have been called upon to make at least a double effort. The correspondent is able to demonstrate the terrific nature of the task thrown on the German soldiers by the desire of the German emperor to crush the French and their armies before American troops arrived in sufficient numbers to turn the balance.

During last year, Germany possessed on their western front between 160 and 170 divisions. The most of these were engaged twice and some three times during the entire twelve months, having in the meantime been reconstituted.

Verdun used 20 divisions, the Somme 25, the Aisne and Chemin des Dames, fighting, 80; Flanders 10, Cumbrai 24, and minor operations 9¢, making altogether 270 divisional engagements.

Owing to the decension of the Russians the Germans have been able to place 210 divisions on the western front this year. From January to July 24, these divisions have been engaged about 490 times, so that each has been thrown into battle at least twice during the last year.

When the present battle began the Germans had 28 divisions on that portion of the field westward from Rheims as far as Chateau Thierry. Now the front has been widened by the allied attack from the latter city to the Aisne and the Germans have hurried more forces into the line, bringing the total now engaged in this part of the front to over 40, and placing a considerable strain on the enemy's reserves.

They still have reserve divisions concentrated at some places behind their lines, but many units comprised of these divisions have been sorely tried this year and it is questionable whether they are all sufficiently recuperated to participate in a new attack should the German staff decide to order one to retrieve the defeat of the crown prince.

CHILDREN GO TO PICNIC ON SPECIAL CARS

Volunteers of America Entertain "Kiddies" at Tenney Park

Fair weather and conditions propitious for a rush on ice cream cones favored the annual gathering of about 2,000 of Madison's children at Tenney park today at the annual picnic given by the Volunteers of America.

Chartered street cars loaded with all kinds of children, with their hands and heads sticking out of the windows and doors, went through the down town district at 10:30 this morning, taking those who lived a distance from the park to the picnic.

"Off for a regular good time," was the spirit evidenced as the youngsters rode through town, and the refrains of "Glorious, Glorious," came from the passing cars.

Races for the boys and girls, blueberry pie and watermelon eating contests were features of the entertainment offered for the all day picnic which will adjourn just before supper time. Noon lunch was served on the grounds by the Volunteers of America.

THE TRANSPORT.

I watched your transport sail away for France.
And tried to tell you then how brave you were,
How much I loved you, how the coming years
Were glorified; how all our little dreams,
That we had built together, sailed with you;
And of that winter day when we first met,
And how there was a new moon in the sky.
Do you remember when like splintered ice
It lay upon the surface of the lake?
Of how I loved you and the wasted years
We might have spent together, but it still
Was something to have had, those happy years,
Something to hold, something to thank Him for,
Something most people die with never having known,
Something the war can never take away!
All this I would have told you, but so much
Was left unsaid. We only talked of ships
And why the sea gulls could dip their wings so deep,
And how the sky line changes with the years,
And of the city, and be sure to write
And tell me everything you think of France—
And don't forget! and then the whistle blew
* * *
Now when they talk of war I only see
The harbor flashing in the sun, the dipping gulls,
The ragged edge of rope that tied the ship,
A little crack upon the painted rail
Where you last laid your hand.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN HAS HOUSE PAINTED

Gov. Philipp Gets Letter From Sharon Man Now 90 Years Old

A letter was received from M. H. Chapman of Sharon, Wisconsin by Gov. Philipp today saying that a gang of night-riders had visited him, painted his house yellow with crosses and the screens with vile and insulting language. Chapman is a well known veteran of the Civil War now 90 years of age.

"I am a veteran from 1862 to 1865," writes Mr. Chapman to the governor. "I have an honorable discharge and could have easily gotten a commission in the regular army when the additional 200,000 was called for from the volunteers. I was 70 years old when the Spanish-American War occurred. I bought $5,000 of 10-20 war bonds at three per cent. Now we have war with German. I am 90 years old. I took what money I had in two banks and bought $2,000 in Liberty Bonds; and bought $50 worth of United States war stamps. After doing all this for my country, I was visited by a mob of night-riders and the Ku-Klux-Klan. My wife is 80 years old and almost paralyzed. She was so shocked by the mob that she is not over with it yet. I am asking your honor what I had better do about this affair. I have lived in this village 20 years, in the state 65 years, except from absence in the south four years. I was in the Libby prison nearly 100 days. The mob painted our house yellow with crosses likewise the sidewalk and screens and used vile and insulting language."

"It seems deplorable that a veteran of the Civil War in this day and age should be subject to such treatment," writes Gov. Philipp in his reply. "If you can furnish me with any information which will enable me to act I will request the District Attorney of your county to immediately take steps to see that the guilty parties are punished."

THE AWAKENING OF THADDEUS BROWN

War didn't interest Thaddeus Brown,
The laziest man in a lazy man's town.
The only ambition astir in his breast
Was a "big chaw o' twist" and a place to rest.
The latter he found at the village store,
Where along with some other— a dozen or more—
Discussing the war—all but Thaddeus, mind,
Who to purpose was dumb and to justice was blind,
And, when asked how he stood in these matters of state,
He'd drawl his reply as a verdict of weight
And a final decree of the daily debate,
"Mighty foolish."

The seasons passed on with their tidings of woe,
Good men and brave were at grips with the foe.
Yet, Thaddeus sat in the shade by the store
Along with a couple of others—not more,
For the old crowd had dwindled, some wearing the brown,
Had honored the flag with the troops from the town.
Like a barnacle glued to an old 'rotten pier.
Spraying the flies with a flood of ambier,
Thaddeus grunted to all who would hear,
"Mighty Foolish."

At last came the edict which fell like a flash,
And its horrors hit Thaddeus Brown with a crash.
For Crowder had said—and Crowder was right—
That if man would not work, man must go out and fight,
And Thaddeus heard, when the grim warning fell.
Like the saddening tones of a funeral bell.
"What think you now, Brown?" said his host with a frown.
To the laziest man in a lazy man's town.
And Thaddeus groaned as he shifted his chair
And nervously fondled a lock of his hair
And croaked like a drowning man gasping for air,
"Mighty ser'yus."

MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK—Specialties contributed to the irregular trend at the opening of today's stock market, tobaccos, for example, moving in opposite directions. Fractional gains in the United States Steel, Industrial Alcohol and Colorado Fuel were balanced by recessions extending from fractions to a point in Distiller, Inspiration Copper and National Biscuit, St. Paul pfd., on which dividend action was expected later in the day, was the only rail to show even a nominal advance. Liberty bonds were inclined to yield.

Pressure against leaders relaxed with the progress of the session of the stock market today. United States Steel showed better support on its extreme rise of 1⅛, with substantial gains for Crucible Steel, Baldwin, Marine pfd., Pacific Mail and oils. Sumatra Tobacco, which weakened at the outset despite the proposed stock dividend, rallied 3 points and tobacco products gained 1½. St. Paul pfd. lost its early firmness, reacting a point with Reading, hardened, but other railway shares were neglected.

Active stock experienced another moderate setback during the listless trading of the early afternoon. Sumatra Tobacco forfeited all its recovery. United States Steel, Baldwin Locomotive and Reading cancelled most of their advance, and St. Paul pfd. was under further pressure with American telephone.

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN

MINNEAPOLIS—Wheat, receipts, 53 cars, compared with 69 cars a year ago.
Corn, No. 3 yellow, 1.52@1.60.
Oats, No. 3 white, 72@73.
Flax, 4.56@4.59.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO—Corn prices showed weakness today as a result of the failure of frost predictions and owing to a favorable weather forecast. Continued liberal receipts together with sales to go to store here, tended also to handicap bulls. Buying was of only a scattered sort. Opening prices, which ranged from ¾c to ⅞c lower, with August 1.54 to ½, with September 1.54⅞ to 1.55⅛, were followed by decided further setbacks and then something of a rally.

Oats were easier with corn. Trade was light. After opening unchanged to 1c down, with August 69¾c to 70c, the market underwent a moderate additional sag.

Lower quotations on hogs had a depressing effect on provisions.

Corn, No. 2 yellow nominal; No. 3 yellow, 1.55@1.70.

Oats, No. 3 white, 76¾@77¼; standard, 77@77½.

Rye, No. 2, 1.68; barley, 1.05@1.20; timothy, 6.50@8.25; clover and pork nominal; lard, 26.32@26.45; ribs, 24.12@24.75.

Opinions that a sharp curtailment of receipts was impending stimulated a temporary demand, but was offset later by bearish crop advices, cheering military news and by renewed peace talk. The close was nervous, 3⅛ to ⅞ net lower, with August 1.51⅝ to 1.52, and September 1.52⅜ to ⅝.

PHILIPP ASKS CITY MEN TO HELP FARMERS

Executive Calls on People to Divide Time With Farm

People in cities and villages are asked to aid the farmers by Gov. Philipp. The following proclamation was issued today:

"Our state has been blessed with with a large crop of grain. It is particularly fortunate now that this is true, because of the great need for bread to support our army and our allies. It is of first importance to our government, and to the cause of the war that this valuable crop be promptly and economically harvested.

"In common with the other agricultural states of the northwest, there is a great shortage of labor on our farms, due primarily to the fact that a large number of our young men of military age have gone into the army or navy and to the further fact that increased numbers are employed in the manufacture of essentials for the government.

"I am advised by the provost marshal general that military necessities compel him to demand that every man who has been called be promptly forwarded to the military camps for training, and that he cannot now grant furloughs or defer induction into the service because of agricultural necessities.

"The situation must be met in some way, and I feel confident that the people of the state who are not engaged in farming will be willing to give their aid, so far as it is possible, in harvesting the crop.

"To meet this great emergency, I call upon the people of the cities, villages and towns to give as much aid to our farmers as possible, thereby dividing their time between their business and the farm, wherever such service is necessary, or to organize the labor that can possibly be spared temporarily and offer the same to the state council of defense for distribution wherever it is most needed.

"I am sure that much can be accomplished in this way, and I urge upon the people of the state to take this matter up in earnest, and in the sense that it is in compliance with our patriotic duty to save our grain from ruin, in order that it may be used to feed the people who are dependent upon us."

NEW SUGAR ORDER SENT OUT BY BOARD

No New Jobbers or Wholesalers to be Given Supply Says Swenson

No new jobbers or wholesalers who start to handle sugar after July 1st will be granted license nor given certificates by the Wisconsin Food Administration, and no certificates will be issued for sugar which is to be used for any other purposes than human consumption. Requests for sugar for any other uses should be referred to the Sugar Distribution Division, Washington, D. C.

Due to an unexpected increase in the sugar shortage, the allotments for August, which will be made public soon, are less than the amount granted in July.

To aid in policing the sugar trade wholesalers and jobbers must notify county food administrators before giving sugar to retailers in excess of their normal requirements even on presentation of certificates; and all retailers, to limit repeaters on two and five pound purchases, must keep sugar books recording the date, amount and delivery of the purchase and the address and size of the family of the purchaser. By selling only to their own customers, they prevent people gathering sugar from store to store.

SAVE LEATHER!

All available leather whether in gloves, pillows or table covers, of any color and size, is wanted at the Red Cross headquarters on Monona avenue, to be made into aviator coats.

The leather is appliqued with a sewing machine to a linette foundation cut in the shape of the garment and this is in turn backed with brown or khaki silesia or galatea cloth. The color of the leather is of no significance as it is all covered. The Red Cross asks that the leather be cleaned and cut open so as to be ready to be used in one thickness.

1,550 NURSES CALLED FOR IN WISCONSIN

Quota for Badger State Announced—Number to be Apportioned

Sometime between July 29 and August 11 there must be found in this state 1550 young women for the United States Student Nurse Reserve. This is the quota assigned Wisconsin out of the 25,000 which the government has asked for and it is safe to assume that Badger girls are not going to lag behind their brothers when the nation calls.

Every city and village in the state will be given its quota to be filled and in most places regular recruiting stations will be opened with a uniformed nurse in charge to answer questions and fill out applications. On Saturday evening August 3 there are to be parades of nurses in uniform in every city in the country and there will be posters and bands of music and speeches and all the rest that goes to make a stirring campaign. All this will have as its objective the awakening of the girl to the great need for nurses that is confronting the nation today and which only the girl can help to overcome.

Hospitals are Emptied.

Hospitals are being emptied of their nurses as the call for overseas service grows more urgent and there will soon be few nurses left behind. The places of those who have gone over seas must be filled by students when enrolling for a definite term of service thus release a nurse for service at the front.

The government wants young women of good character, good health and good sense. A college education is valuable but not necessary. There are schools that do not require even a full high school education, but it is desirable that recruits should have had at least a high school training.

Must Be Ready.

Girls enrolling in this service must agree to hold themselves in readiness up to April 1, 1919 to enter either a civilian training school or the army nursing school recently established by the war department. They may indicate their choice of the two fields, but the government hopes that a majority of those who enroll will put down their names for both that they may be sent where the first need arises. There will be a preferred class, who will receive their first assignments. The deferred class will be made up of those who indicate a willingness to go to only certain hospitals. This class is designed for those who for family reasons must receive their training near their homes. The terms of training will run from two to three years, and will fit the student for following the profession of nursing.

The significant fact that must not be lost sight of is that as soon as a student nurse enters training in a hospital she is releasing someone higher up in the profession for service at the front.

MISSOURI TO SEND FARMERS TO WISCONSIN

Big Delegation to Come Aug. 24 to Investigate Dairying

HANNIBAL, Mo.—Living up to their reputation, a delegation of Missouri farmers, interested in dairying, want to be shown. They have heard of Wisconsin's reputation as a dairy state, and propose to learn first-hand how the Badgers do it.

Leaving this point on August 24 the party will tour several important dairy sections in Wisconsin, and visit the experiment station at Madison for the purpose of inquiring into the important dairy investigations which have been, and are being carried on there.

The Missouri Federation of Commercial clubs is aiding the sponsors of this tour in carrying out their plans, as are the representatives of the college of agriculture and the United States department of agriculture.

WHEAT SITUATION EASIER THIS FALL

Hoover Looks to Loyalty in Keeping Food Rules, Says Melville

"Hoover does not want us to feel we are on a military footing," A. H. Melville, executive secretary for the Wisconsin Food administration told a meeting of the Madison merchants and Dane county food administrators and their deputies, "but he looks to our loyalty to aid in keeping the food and sugar rules."

"After September 1st, the wheat situation will be somewhat easier, and fewer substitutes will be required, although wheat conservation must still continue to some extent to build up a reserve supply. At present the flour regulations still hold.

"A new flour 51 per cent substitute can only be used after it has been registered with the Food administration. The 50-50 basis for flour purchase must be followed by your customers, and if any reports come in that they are feeding it to chickens, or throwing it away, a heavy fine will be inflicted on them. All of the bakers must observe the 25 per cent substitute rule, or else the 33 1-3 for Victory products and 66 2-3 for quick breads.

"In answer to the many requests that come to me, I will say that sugar for picnics and church luncheons must be taken from the home supply. Because of the shortage, no special allotment can be made them. And in giving sugar for household purposes, the number of members in the family must be ascertained and 8 pounds only per month given to each one. Avoid selling to strangers.

"The first canning certificates for all the counties have been honored, but no more can be granted just now until Wisconsin receives its sugar allotment for August. Commercial syrup, used in the proportion of 2-3 syrup and 1-3 water should be substituted for sugar in canning."

Elwell, Miss Eleanor Regan, Mrs. Jessica Cady and Miss Josephine Ferguson.

CHEESE MEN USE BABCOCK MILK TESTER

J. L. Sammis of University Tells of Further Use of Device

MONROE — Among the 2,200 American cheese factories now operating in Wisconsin there is scarcely one which is not paying for milk on the basis of the Babcock test.

Any suggestions that they return to the old pooling system of payment is promptly rejected by the patrons, because all other neighboring factories pay by the test, and this is recognized to be the only fair method.

The smaller group of factories in the southern part of the state making brick cheese have until recently continued payment by the old pooling system, but as a result of improved conditions on dairy farms, the breeding of better cattle, advanced registry of stock, cow testing associations, and the work of the college of agriculture and other incluences, a gradual change is being affected. J. L. Sammis of the University of Wisconsin dairy department reports that there is a strong likelihood that the use of the Babcock test will soon be further extended among the brick cheese factories in this prosperous dairy region.

WAGE SCHEDULE TO BE KNOWN AUG. 1

Packing House Employes to Get Definite Answer on That Date

August 1 has been set as a definite date on which the employees of the Co-Operative Packing Plant will learn of the increase in wages which is to be made by the board of directors of the concern. A meeting was held July 16 at which the board of directors and representatives of the employes were present and a discussion of wages and hours was had. At this time assurance was given the men that the wages would be increased but because of various conditions, a definite answer as to the amount could not be given. Agreement was made that the board of directors would give their answer on August 1.

FIND BIG LOSS BY LEAF PEST ON POTATOES

Agricultural Representative Tells of Cause for Leaves Drying Up

The apple leaf hopper is causing serious injury to early potatoes.

Many reports have come in to the college of agriculture recently from practically all parts of southern Wisconsin of a premature browning and drying up of the early potatoes before these have become full grown. Investigations have shown that wherever this condition exists large numbers of small, bright green leaf hoppers were present on the under side of the leaves. Many of these are now getting wings and will probably fly to the late potatoes to lay eggs for another generation. This will make it necessary to watch carefully for the appearance of the small wingless forms.

According to L. G. Gentner of the experiment station staff, the wingless forms cannot be controlled readily because they fly up quickly when disturbed. Mr. Gentner says that to control the wingless forms and also the plant lice the plants should be sprayed with a contact spray made of nicotine sulphate (Black Leaf 40) 1¼ teaspoonfuls; soap (laundry) 1 1-inch cube, and water 1 gallon; or if large areas are to be treated, nicotine sulphate (Black Leaf 40) ½ pint; soap, laundry or fish oil, 2 pounds; and water, 50 gallons.

"The spray must actually reach the insects to kill them and should be applied as a fine mist with a sprayer. Great care should be taken to thoroughly wet all of the plant. As these insects are found mostly on the under sides of the leaves the spray must either be applied from below or the vines pulled over so that the spray will reach the under sides. Poison will not kill this pest. Fish oil soap at the rate of 2 pounds to 8 or 10 gallons of water may also be used."

MUST FILE AUG. 1.

Candidates for county offices must file their nomination papers with County Clerk Fjelstad, on or before Aug. 3. Mr. Fjelstad announced that the office would be kept open only until five o'clock on that date.
